

InterPARES3 Team China begins to construct research groups

Time:2007-9-14 12:07:54

InterPARES3 Team China includes:

1. researcher(very interested in electronic record management research; have good research ability and research foundation; chaired or participated in electronic record management research; have substantiality research fruits; published relative books and papers; have fluent English)students assistants.

2. cooperation partner(have strong cooperating research willing; have substantiality research recourses):

(1)resource partner(provide research resources; participate in project research, assessment, feedback and so on);

(2)test bed(record and archives management organizations which have leaders pay attention to electronic record management; have plenty researchers and fund);

(3)software company(develop software system according to electronic record management requirements; combine technology and management; have enough technology and fund support).

Students assistants begin to apply now, followings are base requirements;

1.Very interested in electronic record research; have certain research foundation and research ability;

2.Good at English; translate fluently; have plenty time to do the research;

3. Mainly constructed with first grade master and doctoral students, or some excellent undergraduates;

4. Applicants should provide English ability certifications (that is, translated articles related to InterPARES or ERM recently; related papers published or unpublished).

5. The applications should be emailed to wj@ruc.edu.cn before Sep 25, 2007.

Please contact Professor Jian WANG to get details on the project cooperation.

Email: wj@ruc.edu.cn

Address: School of Information Resource Management, Renmin University of China, Beijing, China, 100872

InterPARES3 China Team

Sep 10, 2007